At Cairo, heavy waves pounded at the bulkhead atop the city's 60foot seawall, unleashing new power into the flood which flows above the level of the city's house tops. The river stage was 591 feet. Under the watchful eyes of thousands of levee workers, working under floodlights for two and a half miles, the river fitfully pitched against the dirt barrier atop the seawall. It was holding firm early today.

Pittman Looks Over 'Cash, Carry' Bill, Says It Resembles His.

WASHINGTON. Feb. 1.—(P)—Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, predicted quick agreement on a permanent neutrality law tonight after looking over a so-called cash and carry proposal by four former members of the senate munitions committee. Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee which will begin hearings on the subject Wednesday, said the plan of the former munitions investigators was "substantially in accord" with his own scheme.

The bill by Senators Clark, Democrat, Missouri; Bone, Democrat, Washington; Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan and Nye, Republican, North Dakota, would leave little of America's neutrality policy to presidential discretion.

It provides that Americans shall have no interest in any shipments destined for warring nations, and that any claims resulting from violations of this rule will be outlawed in American courts. Insurance on such shipments also would be null and void.

Senator Pittman said his bill would require the same "saverance of owner. require the same "severance of owner-ship" but would not deny American citizens right to the courts.

OF RUM DEALERS' OFFER
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 1.—
(P)—Governor Bibb Graves threw his support tonight behind a proposed legislative investigation into the statement by Edward F. Taylor, clerk of the house of representatives, that he was offered $10,000 by Alabama and Florida liquor interests to help defeat a prohibition repeal bill.

The measure goes to the Governor tomorrow, providing state-store liquor control system in counties voting wet in a special election March 10.

Taylor said he was approached by a spokesman for "10 Alabama liquor dealers and those in Pensacola," with an offer of $10,000 to help sustain the Governor's veto should he take this action.

Taylor said he did not consider the offer a "bribe" but an effort to "hire me to help defeat the bill should the Governor veto it."

"I told him I was in favor of the bill and would do everything in my power to pass it."

The incident overshadowed other political issues today, but left unsettled the major question—will the Governor sign the repeal bill or send it back with an amendment for a referendum under which no counties would go "wet" unless the state-wide vote showed a majority for repeal.

This plan was advocated by the Governor in his message to the legislature.

Governor Rivers, in a brief talk, pointed out the value of such figures for the administration and legislature in its efforts to lower the total tax burden of the state by shifting some of the duties now filled by the local governments to state control.

He instanced this by pointing to the present effort in the legislature to secure tax exemption for homes, declaring it was necessary to know what amount of taxable value would be taken from the digests if the exemption figure was put at $5,000. exemption figure was put at $5,000, $2,500 or some other figure. There is nothing new in Germany's denial of being responsible for starting the great war; German officials have written many books in an effort to prove her innocence; the evidence put forward, but the world has not changed its opinion, and Hitler's declaration may be considered as meant almost entirely for home consumption.

The demand for the return of Germany's lost colonies is the one of contention that remains.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

CHANGED DIET WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The biggest confession was not offered at those Moscow treason spectacles. It might have been obtained if Boss Stalin had taken the stand. He could have disclosed, if he would, that the cause of it all probably is a revolution which he himself is undergoing, At least, this is what some piercing students of Russia see behind the whole series of staged trials—an official revolution within.

Stalin's heavy propaganda dramas, they say, were produced to educate the army to a new line of Russian thought. All citizens are subject to compulsory military service. They have been fed on the world revolution for so long that they have no nationalist spirit. Threat of war from Germany and Japan finds them more inclined toward rousing German and Japanese masses than toward fighting for their own borders. These are the only traditions they have, the ones furnished by Lenin. Stalin appears to be furnishing them with contrary ideals of patriotism, love of country, resistance to enemies outside. His purpose is to establish a real Russian nation, as a measure of national defense,

The fact that he is even now preparing for a third trial spectacle is a hint that the transition is not yet complete. His firing squad may be at work for a long time, putting the new idea across.

NECESSITY Lenin will get up and walk out of the kremlin to hide in a more obscure death before it is over. It was his famous order No. 1 to the Russian soldiers at the conclusion of the World War which started the Communist army traditions. The order urged the troops in the trenches to disregard their officers and to elect officers of their own choosing. Then came the treaty of Brest-Litovsk when he gave the Germans a substantial portion of the old Russian nation. His theory was that, when the world revolution came, he would get it back, and more. But there was no consideration of national entities in his thought or policy. He was not bent on whipping Russia into a nation, but in preparing Russia to lead the world revolution.

Lenin did not have to face the prospect of invading enemies in his front and his back yard. If he had, it is conceivable he would have ollowed the historic Russian strategy used against Napoleon. He would have passively permitted the invaders to come up to Moscow and then let the winter beat them. That old strategy is obviously worthless now. Napoleon would have won if he had possessed modern airplanes to bring him ammunition, food and comforts. Today, Lenin probably would be forced to do what Stalin is doing.

Dictators and presidents may have a lot to say about running nations, but, when they get really down to facing facts, they must admit that the general staffs are the ones that are fixing many political policies these days. The generals care not a whit about elegant political theories. They INKLINGS This theory of what inspired the trials cannot be proved, of course, but there are many little incidents tending to confirm it. For example, a small dispatch fom Moscow recently carried information that the ban of censorship had been lifted on a dramatic play glorifying the old knighthood of early Christian Russia. They had Santa Claus last Christmas. Their spokesmen now are saying flatly that Communism has been dropped by the Russian government.

The Slav temperament generally includes exceptional talent for in-No one can say how much of anything from Russia is to be believed. But, if the current signs are being read aright, Communism is dead; Stalin's preparing a new nation.

RUDGET TRICKS President Roosevelt has indicated a certain sympathy with the senate investigating committees for borrowing help from WPA and other government departments. The President did not say so, but he has been similarly borrowing help for the White House on the side. The White House budget shows an amount for salaries which is substantially below the actual salaries of its clerks. The reason is that a good many are carried on the rolls as employes of the Treasury, Interior, State and other departments. The purpose, of course, is to hold the White House budget down and make it look good.

Mr. Roosevelt did not institute the custom, but inherited it from his predecessors COMING Mr. Roosevelt has been working on several proposed messages to congress, but has been secretive about the subjects One would recommend sugar legislation, including the Wallace processing tax program. Another is based on the Wagner housing bill, which Senator Wagner has been in New York preparing since congress opened.

CONFESSION Congressman Fuller, of Arkansas, advised the freshmen legislators of the house to accept the President's relief appropriation, saying with more truth that was intended: "You new members will soon learn you cannot legislate on the floor of the house."

One of the household duties out at the Jones establishment has been made more difficult. After months of smoldering resentment, the boss has finally delivered an ultimatum. In the past the masculine members of the family have got away with the convenient custom of throwing the animal, whenever she must be bathed, into the bathtub and, after she was properly laundered, taking the first succeeding human bath in the tub themselves. You see none of the fastidious feminine folks could then object because we, the masculines would assume great indignation and pretend it was bathing after us, instead of the dog, to which they objected.

"If we can bathe immediately after the dog, surely you don't object to following us?" we would say, with a hint of hurt pride in our voices.

FAIR ENOUGH IIf He Has Authority To Sign Your Name, You Are at the Mercy of His Judgment

By ROBERT QUILLEN In a free land such as ours, public business is the business of each citizen, and officials have no authority except to do the will of the people.

Yet when three men are elected to manage the school in a crossroads settlement, they soon begin to regard school matters as their private concern and to resent the prying questions of the school's patrons. That attitude is human nature, and therefore inevitable in all officialdom, whether a backwoods school board or the State Department

It is natural that the people in this department should wish to retain their present authority and should resent any effort to tie their hands. Dealing with other nations and forming the diplomatic policies of America is their profession, and they have experience and knowledge not shared by laymen.

Naturally they will oppose any neutrality legislation that would bind them to a particular course of action. They wish to remain free, as they now are, to aid or hinder foreign nations according to their personal

They would be more than human if they did not use their enormous power to benefit their favorites and handicap the nations they dislike. That being true, the question before the American people now is whether they wish to establish a definite policy of neutrality or trust their destiny to the prejudices of these men in the State Department. In their dread and hatred of war, the people are at present unani-

Doubtless most of them think that the recent neutrality measure rushed through congress with only one dissenting vote guarantees this nation's neutrality and ends the danger of entanglement in a foreign war. But it does nothing of the kind. It merely forbids the shipment of arms to Spain. Any maker of armament may continue to sell his wares to Germany, Italy, France or any other nation. And there is no restriction on the sale of such other munitions as cotton, oil and chemicals.

The question is whether we shall lock the stable door before the horse stolen, or trust the State Department to use its own judgment when the thief appears. Whatever we do will prove unfair to one side or the other when war comes, and we shall lose money and friends; but beyond any doubt we can keep out of war if we are willing to pay the price.

Minister Recovering Here Describes Horrors of Disaster; Praises Red Cross.

By WILLIAM G. KEY JR.
"Politics can be blamed for much of the tragedy suffered in Louisville," according to the Rev. Ira B. McClung. pastor of the Louisville West Side Baptist church and now a patient at the Georgia Baptist hospital, recovering from the strain of ten days in that "madhouse."

"I may be doing my fair city an injustice," he said yesterday, "but it is a fact that will come out in any investigation." The pastor arrived here Saturday with his family, and was immediately ordered to the hospital to recuperate. According to Mr. McClung, the death toll in Louisville will mount well beyond the thousand mark. He told of seeing bodies stacked like cordwood awaiting burial or cremation. Grown men, apparently in the best of health, were falling out from ex-

"The United States army finally calmed the city in some degree after they took over and began their work, he said. He blamed wrangling of po-litical factions for the delay in secur-ing army assistance. "They couldn't step into a situation like that," he step said.

Red Cross Praised.

"Too much praise cannot be heaped on the Red Cross for their wonderful work . . and the gratitude of the people of Louisville to the Red Cross people of Louisville to the Red Cross and all others who fell over each other trying to render all the aid possible is undying.

"If the spirit that brought succor from all sections of the world could only be maintained we would not have to worry about war. and if the spirit that existed in Louisville during the flood will only live afterwards, Louisville will be a greater and happier city. Everybody was a buddy to everyone else." Mr. McClung said.

At the last minute of safety he took his family from their home to the Seelbach hotel, where for several days they fared better than those in the remainder of the city, having lights, water and heat from the hotel's lights, water and heat from the hotel's

There was little chance for religious services during the crisis, but Mr. McClung found what he termed one of the most impressive experiences of his career in a service he conducted in a dance hall over the garage.

Wants -o Go Back.

"I want to get back within ten days to help those in our section to come back" he said. "I thought two or three days here would bring me back all right, but the doctor says I'll have to stay longer."

His pastorate, at Twenty-first and St. Xavier streets, was one of the first sections to be infundated.

"There was no warning of any serious impending disaster," he said, "but the streets became flooded quickly after a long stretch of hard rains and the sewers of the city began backing up into the streets instead of taking the water away."

Louisvillê, he explained, is located

Louisville, he explained, is located in an elbow of the river, and has never been protected by levees, "because there has never been any need of them, and because no one thought the high sections of the city would be flooded or cut off."

There were only about 1,000 boats in the city when the flood came, and 1,000 could have easily been used on Worked to Stem Panic.

The greatest problem was in keeping citizens of the city from becoming panic-stricken and out of hand. Mr. McClung said, and the radio and the newspapers did wonderful work in keeping panic to a minimum, but he believes that military authority under the direction of the United States army should be mandatory immediately on the development of emergency of that type.

"It was a wonderful spirit for leaders to say 'Louisville will fight this flood and lick it,' or that 'Louisville will take this flood with its chin up, but definite action and control out of the hands of politicians is needed."

"I saw policemen put their billy under their arm, lean up against a light pole and just quiver all over with tension," he said.

There can be no estimate of the total death toll until the flood waters receded from homes under water, Mr. McClung said. "No one knows how many bodies will be found under water. . . An undertaker I

Defending Court, Senator Says Issue Is One Only People Can Solve.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 .- (AP)-Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, defended the supreme court tonight and criticized what he termed the "purloining" of state powers by the federal government.

A constitutional amendment would be necessary, he said, to authorize any further expansion of federal powers. Borah's defense of the high court from "severe criticism" from the "po litical side of the government" was made in the form of a speech in the Washington Evening Star's radio forum.

"It seems to me that a question has arisen which only the people have the authority or the right to settle," he declared. "Should there be a redistribution of power between the state and the federal government?

Not For Us to Connive.

"It is not for us to urge, or connive, at the courts, through strained or doubtful construction, filching from the people power which the people have not granted." he asserted.

"Any plan which undertakes to accomplish any redistribution of power between the state and the national government, without the full authority of the people, should be regarded as a mistake—a mistake that there is no reason for making.

Recently I heard a man make this remark—

"The thing I like is the way that the men at the Citizens & Southern handle me when I come to the bank."

That is a conventional remark. It was intended as a compliment and in that sense is appreciated. Yet it is not an expression which appeals to the average man. Men do not want to be "handled" when they come to their bank in all seriousness to discuss a financial problem. They are much more interested in the way the men and women of the bank "handle" themselves.

Take the matter of bank loans. The bank is very desirous of lending money. They want good loans. When a man or woman comes to borrow money, they want the bank officers to discuss and analyze the situation intelligently and seriously. If the loan is sound they expect to get it. If for any reason the loan can not be made they expect an intelligent explanation as to why it cannot be granted.

All this is determined by the way the bank man "handles" himself and not the customer. The same is true in service rendered by the tellers, in the safe deposit vault or any other department. In the Citizens & Southern every member of the staff is interested in "handling" himself or herself well. The result will always be a pleased customer.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—After a warm skirmish, the senate today accepted an amendment by Senator Richard B. Hopkins Reports Homeless Are 'Well Taken Care of' and Plans To Install Wood Floors in Tent Cities; 35,000 To Stay About a Month in Them.

MEMPHIS. Tenn., Feb. 1.—(P)—
An inspection tour of two refugee camps above the St. Francis river in Arkansas today led President Roosevelt's flood relief commission to conclude they were beginning to tackle a long-time problem.

Harry L. Hopkins, chairman, said some 35,000 people driven out of the Arkansas lowlands would probably have to remain in tent cities for at least a month or six weeks.

One law long in force in British East Africa is that no tusk with a weight of less than 30 pounds can be sold for export. This does much to save the lives of the younger males, and of females. Female African elephants have tusks, but not nearly such large ones as the males. large ones as the males.

THE LARGEST LAND ANIMALS.

II—Tusks and Ivory.

Recently a magazine printed a picture with the title of "200 Scared Elephants." The picture had been taken in Africa a few years ago by a British aviator, passing rather low overhead. It is little wonder that the elephants were afraid of such an object as an airplane!

What must have happened was that the big beast was only stunned when the bullet struck his head. Later an elephant was reported to be knocking over native huts, and this brought a "game scout" of the British government to the scene. He tracked and shot the elephant, and found it had just the bare stump of a tail. This was very likely the same animal which had got up and walked away after had got up and walked away after being shot by the hunter. One of its tusks weighed 119 pounds, the other 126 pounds.

Those were large tusks, but larger ones have been found. The heaviest on record seems to be one obtained near Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanganyika. It was found to measure 10 feet and It was found to measure 10 feet and four inches in length, and to weigh 236 pounds. It may now be seen in the British museum. Another very large tusk, owned by a British army officer, does not weigh so much but it is longer. It measures 11 feet and five inches along the outside curve.

The tusks of elephants supply the ivory of commerce. The market price usually has been from $2 to $4 per pound. Ivory has been used for piano keys, billiard balls and other objects. In former days it was the common thing to make piano keys out of ivory, but nowadays many pianos have keys

Bride of Week Seeking Marriage Annulment

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(P)— Married last Wednesday, Helen Burgess, pretty little movie actress, filed suit for annulment today. She charged that her husband, Herbert Rutherford, pianist, de-frauded her in representing himself as being ready and able to provide her with a home. Her complaint alleges he had no means or intention of doing this.

Furthermore, she contended, Rutherford married her to "spite another girl." He never intended to be her husband, she complained. The couple eloped to Yuma, Ariz.

Bverybody knows that when your nostrils are stopped up with mucus and you have to breathe through the mouth, it's mighty unpleasant. But what is still worse, it actually endangers health.

Do you know that your nose has countless tiny hairs which actually filter out millions of germs as well as other impurities in the air and keep the from entering your stored to cold?

That is why you cannot risk neglecting your nose as a safeguard between so you have to by Mother Nature. If your nostrils are stopped up with mucus, open them at once. You can do this quickly with Mentholatum. It breaks up the accumulated mucus, enabling you to breathe more freely through the nostrils, thus getting the vital protection that Nature has planned for you. (adv.)

Representative Girls Are Chosen By Washington Seminary Group

By Sally Forth.

THE most exciting day of the whole year at Washington Seminary is the day when the results of the annual contest to decide the most representative seniors are announced. The entire student body casts a secret ballot to elect the superlatives and it is a great honor to be included in this list. The chosen few are pictured in the school annual, Facts and Fancies, and when their names were announced yesterday in study hall everyone was tense with excitement.

Here are the lucky girls who were elected by their schoolmates. Most popular, Elizabeth Colley. Elizabeth, who is called "Minnie" by her friends, is vice president of the senior class, and her popularity is further attested by her election as an officer of every class during her high school days at the Seminary. Last year she was assistant feature editor of the Missemma, the weekly school paper. Elizabeth is also president of the Phi Pi sorority, and she certainly deserves her title.

Emily Mobley, who was chosen as the most beautiful girl, is pretty and so well groomed on all oc-casions. Aline Macy, who was awarded the honor of being the most intellectual student, has made her four high school years in three, and her name has appeared on every honor roll. In her freshman year she represented the Seminary in the state Latin tournament. Margaret Palmer, elected the most efficient, is the capable editor-in-chief of the Missemma, and last year she was its managing editor. Another office she held was director of the Junior Red Cross.

Betty Anne Bird, chosen the most versatile, was treasurer of the Junior class, and she also held this office during her sophomore year. She won the medal in the state Latin tournament last year, and this was a signal honor.
Management of the business affairs of the annual, Facts and Fancies, are in her efficient hands. Pauline Stauverman, the most athletic student, has broken the high jump record for two years for girls of high school age. She is captain of the basketball team and a member of the "A" Club, membership of which in-includes only girls of splendid athletic accomplishment. Pauline is also the athletic editor of the

The "most gracious" is the complimentary title awarded to Sue Clapp, who is sweet and gracious to everyone. And this trait explains her election as president of the senior class and the Pi Pi sorority. She is also news editor of the annual. Margaret Clarke, known to her friends as "Piggie," is the most witty student. Which really takes brains. Margaret is the literary editor of the annual, and her lovely poems are published in nearly every edition of the Missemma. To be the "Spirit of the Seminary" a girl has to be a combina-tion of several things—smart, attractive, sweet, interested in the welfare of her alma mater-in fact, as the title infers, the very spirit of the school. This honor

THE two most surprised peo-ple in the world today will be Patsy and Morton Hodgson, who are honeymooning in New York. Little do they suspect that the tearful mothers left behind them here Saturday after their wedding are right now in Ntw York, too. Mrs. Hilliard Spalding, Patsy's mother; Mrs. Morton Hodgson Sr., mother of the groom, and their aunt, Mrs. Robert Woodruff, departed Sun-day evening right on the trail of the newlyweds. They plan to call Patsy and Morton when they arrive, and you can imagine how thrilling that will be to the bride

The mothers and aunt are going to have a lovely little dinner party this evening for Patsy and Morton before they sail for France, and when midnight comes the attractive young couple won't have to leave their native land behind them without a farewell. It will be such a wonderful thing have their mothers and "Aunt Nell" to board the Bremen with them, and as the great ship noses out of New York harbor many of the kisses waved to them from the crowd on the dock will be from the trio who are so dear.

I N the horticultural half of Adlanta will have a special N the horticultural hall of fame, place, due to the outstanding ac-tivities of garden-minded citizens whose efforts in the culture of flowers have won national recog-

Last week in Augusta when the annual camellia show was held, the national spotlight was turned upon Phil Shutze, representing the Peachtree Garden Club, who won the grand horticultural med-al of the Garden Club of America for the outstanding blossom in the show. Mr. Shutze's award was made for his rose-form camellia, "The C. M. Hovey," which was grown under glass. The lovely blossom is the old variety and is rose-red with white markings, and is one of the most exquisite in floral records.

Atlanta is quite proud of Mr. Shutze, who is widely known throughout the country in amateur and professional ranks for his work with camellias. His greenhouse, which he maintains at the home of his sister, Mrs. Alvin Cates, on Peachtree road, contains one of the finest camel-lia collections in the country and his award at the Augusta show is indeed a high compliment to his measurements are the reason. A roll around the waist will take the dash out of the smartest gown, while a slim figure with normal measurements can make a budget frock look like something from the salon.

The trend in figures as well as fashlosa is forecast by these mannequins. Roday's American Beauties are atreamlined to the last fraction of an inch, but they are by no means thin. Their figures are molded to healthy, normal lines, and you no longer see a model with the frightening angles of the boyish form. Normal weight with just a subtle suggestion of rounded slimness is not only the current ideal but is the trend for the future. Gabe, the artist who designs some of the snootiest mannequins, has just created a new batch called the Kandid Kamera Kida, who have the figures which are molded by activity in sports.

The popular sizes are 12 and 14, and you rarely see a size 15. . . . prebably, we suspect, because no woman can see herself so large.

Now that we are on the subject of clothes, here are a few "undietary" rules which will help to reduce your size. Don't buy a dress that is snug in the hopes that you will soon be small enough to fit it. Clothes that are too tight make you look (and feel) pounds heavier, for there is nothing like a tight-fitting dress to bring out the bad points of your figure. But don't buy clothes that are too large, either—they make you look enormous.

Slips that are cut on narrow lines, Slips that are cut on narrow lines, and with no more width than you actually need, will give you a better sithouette. You cannot, however, expect smart lines and correct corseting to make a sylph out of an overweight, for there is no substitute for diet and exercise in the making of a good figure.

diet and exercise in the making of a good figure.

Here is an exercise program in concentrated form, and if you have time for only one exercise, pin your hopes of slimness on this one.

Mrs. Wheeler 35 To Entertain.

Mrs. J. G. Wheeler will be hostess 200 to the business meeting of the Fidelis

I have worked hard and supported the two of us but now my health is failing. I am only 32 and would like to be married and settled once more. The gay life doesn't thrill me. I don't care for dances and parties but prefer to stay at home in the evening and read and sew. I have a chance to marry a good man who seems just a friend. I don't love him as I once loved my husband. Is it fair to marry a man when you feel about him this way? Can he be contented under such circumstances? LONELY.

ANSWER:

I should say that the marriage of convenience such as you are thinking of promises peace and contentment only when both parties are deriving benefits from the bargain. In return for the man's name, his protection, his support of you and your child, what have you to offer him? Doctors' druggists' and hospital bills will hardly be a quid for his quo. If the state of your health is such that you are ailing and irritable as most sick and halfsick women are, he will hardly be contented with his bargain.

A lot depends on the individual man. There are some men who are per-fectly satisfied to love women and they aren't greatly concerned with getting back the same sort of affection they put out. If their wives are amiable and passively affectionate toward them that's all they ask. But there are other ware when we want the same ware the same same ware the sam there are other men who want to be loved by women and so long as their vanity is tickled by the continuous assurance that they are adored they make out pretty well.

Furthermore, there are other matters to be considered beyond heart-throbs; congeniality for instance. The fireside picture with the wife sitting reading and sewing, night after night intrigues some husbands but others have such a yen for gadding about that they are infuriated by wives who stick at home and won't shake their feet.

So it follows that if a woman can't blow up a storm of passion for the man who asks her to marry him she should be sure she has other contribuions to make to the sum total of his ppiness before she says "Yes."

A little forethought, a little figuring, a thorough analysis of the man, his character, his disposition, his tastes and his habits should en-A bit out of the ordinary and suitable for afternoon wear is this attractive house frock in the larger size able a widow to answer her own question as to whether or not she dare enter into a marriage of conrange. Which may well be true. Junior is growing so fast he should eat more than his father. Parents do not always recognize this fact.

The reason is that Junior's food must do two things for him. First, it must provide energy for a life that is more active than father's, if he is anormal boy.

My Day ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Sunday.- I want to begin my column today by thanking the many people who have written me kind lefters about it in the past few days. It makes me very happy to feel that they enjoy the little things as well as the more serious things which must of necessity come into it now and then. I think after the President's speech last night that everyone must now understand just where the money raised for crippled children by the birthday balls goes. The medical committee created by the Warm Springs Foundation picks out the institutions best fitted for research and spends the 30 per cent not left in the communities in an effort to dis-

It is perhaps unwise for me to make a suggestion to the committee, but I want to register the fact that I wish a certain percentage of this research fund could go to the patients' aid fund at Warm Springs every year, so that more free patients could be taken there.

This is, of course, selfish on my part for I am always getting letters, which seem to me very pathetic, from people who cannot afford to pay, and who very often live in localities where there are no birthday ball communities who might allocate some of their 70 per cent for treatment Warm Springs.

I had a grand luncheon party at the White House yesterday for the

The old gang of 1920 dined with us as usual last night, but when I got up to say happy birthday to my husband and to drink a toast to all our absent friends, every one of the old gang present, I know, thought at once of Louis Howe. As the years have gone by we have added a few new members to the original gang and this year we added a few more. The talk ranged to South America; the President added a special toast to the memory of Gus Gennerich, a friend whom everyone present re-

Everyone contributed something in verse or in prose, most of them, however, in verse, so the President said that in the future all communications should be brought to his desk in verse, as it would tend to more brevity of expression.

I got away from the dinner in very good time and was only a little late in starting on my round of birthday balls. All the arrangements were beautifully made this year. I even went to Alexandria and was home by 12:30.

A shaded raise is given only when the intervening opponent has passed and a pass by responder may allow the bidding to be closed out before the opener has had a chance to rebid. This is a "courtesy" raise and may conceivably be given without even a fraction of an honor trick in the hand, and as few as two winners. The opener generally should assume that the raise was "shaded," until the subsequent bidding gives him a chance to find out.

Jo Jo White Comes to Terms With Detroit Officials

A news report from Louisville tells of a fish captured by bellboy in the lobby of one of the hotels in the Kentucky Derby

This, no doubt, was a relative of the sucker caught by the same beliboy last year at the Kentucky Derby, the fish who was slightly pickled tipped the bellboy five dollars for carrying his bag to the room, opening the window, brushing an imaginary thread from his coat and asking, "Will there be anything else?

Kentucky Derby time is a great time for fish and the hotel lobbies there have seen lots of them. And the report that a fish was caught there comes under the same heading as dog-bites-man.

Most of the poor fish there around Derby time belong to the sucker family. And the game and fish rules are those established some years ago and are covered in one sentence—"Never give a sucker an even break.'

At Derby time the suckers may be caught almost anywhere in Louisville. The touts at the race track catch whole strings of them. I know, because often I have found myself on the string along with a great many others of the tribe. It was the late Diamond Jim Brady who said it was lots of fun being a sucker if one could afford it. And most of those at Louisville for the Derby can afford it. If they can't afford it they borrow it and let the morrow take care of the bills. The colored boys who work around the stables are great fishermen. I have seen them catch a fish on the cinders in front of a stable. The fish usually listen intently and then slip the colored boys a couple of bucks or so

Perhaps the best fishing of all is just across the river in Indiana. Great strings of suckers are caught in the spots where the boys go to buck the Tiger or to play a little craps or maybe a spot or so of roulette. Boat-loads of suckers are caught in the night clubs.

wish I could see a picture of the fish caught in this hotel. I think I know who he was. He was the large gentleman with the big roll who was making life such a joy there last year. He just came back a bit early.

"THE MORNING LINE."

Mr. Buck Weaver, of the Louisville Times, which, along with the Courier-Journal, has done some heroic work in the flood, recently polled turf writers of the nation and came up with Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Reaping Reward as the favorite to win the Kentucky Derby.

One of his interesting requests in the poll was whether or not Pompoon could go the route, a mile and a quarter.

The reason for the query was that Pompoon's pappy was Pompey. And Pompey could run like a deer hound at the shorter distaances. But when called on, with whip and spur, to go the distances, he couldn't make them. The boys who had seen his old man step voted him down to second place.

Pompoon is Pompoon and not Pompey. But blood tells quite a story in the Kentucky Derby. Or any other horse race where the distance is a mile or more.

Quite a few of them can gallop out the mile in fast time. But most of them begin to fade when the last Louisville will be all washed up and gay by the time Derby day is here again. And the crowds will be drinking juleps and singing and going here and there on foot where the boats now ride. And there will be more good-natured suckers there on that day than the flood could bring in.

THE GREATEST FINISH.

The Derby has furnished forth lots of great finishes. But for the unique finish of all time, there was the one of 1933 when Colonel Bradley's Broker's Tip beat Head Play in that battle of horses and jockeys down the stretch. There are two pictures I'll never forget.

The jockey quarters after that race. And Mack Garner, the winner of the 1934 Derby, after his victory

Herb Fisher rode Head Play that day in 1933. And Don

Meade, now ruled off the track, rode Broker's Tip. Down the stretch they came, bats flying, hands yanking blankets. The camera caught it-one of the great pictures of all time-both jockeys fighting with one free arm as the horses rocketed down the track and 80,000 people screamed and yelled, making that great crescendo of sound that only the Derby knows.

And when it was done, I was waiting in the jockey quarters for the ceremony to be done and Meade to return. Fisher, white-faced and trembling with anger, waited.

When Meade came, looking like a little old man, and very grim about it, Fisher charged. And there in the room smelling of sweat and soap and water and racing gear, the two met. About them gathered the Lilliputs of the track-the jockeys. Some were in silks and some undressed. They gaped while the two small men fought. Officials separated them.

'He tried to get me and I got him," said Meade. And that was all. The race stood.

THE OTHER WAS GARNER.

The other was Mack Garner. He came back to the quarters and they called him out for

He stood there with his wife, the intensity of the race still on his face. In his arms was the huge bunch of American Beauty roses.

The crowd edged in. Some of them ran up and began to tear roses from his bouquet. He tried to smile and understand it. A huge fat woman in a loud print dress ran up and Triner said further that neither he nor the commission is interested in any attitude the New York commission might take in any attempt to prevent the fight or any affairs here.

Budge defeated Dr. Philip B. Hawk, New York, 6-1, 6-2. He was in command throughout but he had to win long rallies. Budge's superior speed turned the tide. Dr. Hawk played a steady game.

Signs Sixth Cracker Contract

Buster Chatham, iron man of the Cracker team last year he played every inning of 155 games at shortstop-yesterday returned his signed contract, his sixth as a Cracker. Buster joined Atlanta in 1932. Wee Buster had his best year in baseball last season. His sparkling play contributed heavily to the Crackers who finished first in fielding as well as in the standings. Buster said he was delighted with terms and the selection of Panama City as a training base, and added "I will be glad to get back in harness."

Chatham 'Delighted,' Signs 1937 Contract

"Little Iron-Man" Pleased With Terms, Sends KENTUCKY LICKS Regards to Cracker Supporter.

By Jack Troy.

Buster Chatham, the little iron man, is signed up and ready to go President Earl Mann yesterday received the signed contract and also a letter from little Buster, who is wintering at Waco, Texas.

It seems some were about ready to count Buster out at the end of the 35 campaign. He had only a fair year afield But he bounced back in 36 and answered his critics with a duzling display of defensive play. The Crackers were the top-ranking fielding tean and Buster had a big part in it. The champions turned in 143 double plays, one less than Birmingham, the leader in this department. Naturally, in point of service, Buster handled more chances than any other shortstop. Coming his way were 485 putouts and 324 assists for a total of 809 chances. He made only 39 errors as he compiled a fielding average of .942.

485 putouts and 324 assists for a total of at 809 chances. He made only 39 errors as he compiled a fielding average of .942.

Chatham is, of course; the oldest Cracker. That is, in point of time spent with the club.

He will be playing his sixth season with Atlanta next summer. It was in 1932 that the little Texan joined the Crackers.

In that time the peppery shortstopper has built up a great following. And his popularity increased more of the '36 season which, as said, was his best in baseball.

Chatham and Nig Lipscomb formed a great keystone combination last year, to replace him. And Buster and his new partner are expected to take up where he and Lipscomb left off last year.

STRONG INFIELD.

There is no good reason why the Crackers shouldn't come up with as strong an infield as last season.

Chatham is the third regular of last season to return his signed contract.

WILL COMPOSE 'NINE' AT TECH

Football players will make up most of the Georgia Tech baseball team

Bobby Dodd, who will resume coaching the team, announced that Harry Appleby and Ed Jones, both star football players, will be regular players.

Appleby, who was the Tech fullback last season, will catch or play outfield. His position will be determined by Ed Jones' ability as catcher.

Lawrence Hays is counted on for an outfield position. He was halfback on the football team.

Bud Lindsey, a tackle, is expected to be one of the pitching staff.

FAIR TEAM.

"I think we will have a pretty fair team," said Dodd, who will start the team at practice when the basketball season is done. "Many of the men have played before. And there will be some new men who may oust the lineup with which I am familiar."

A tentative lineup, subject to change without notice, is as follows:
Ed Jones, catcher. Sparky Adams, also a football player, first base. Matty Mathews, of the grid squad, second base. Bill Gibson, sub football player, and brother of Hoot Gibson, shortstop. Bill McNinnery, third*base.

Whack Hyder, of the basketball team, is an outfielder. Harry Appleby, if he does not catch, will play centerfield. Appleby was a star in amateur baseball at Chattanooga last summer. Hays is another outfielder.

LIST OF PITCHERS.

Carl Waits, the slugging pitcher, will perform those chores and also differed a broken wrist in the fifth inning of the second are of the world series as a pinch-hitter.

Appleby and Hyder are his two outstanding prospects. Both have been offered major league contracts.

Derby Nominations Extended to March

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(P)—The date for returning nominations for the Kentucky Derby and other Churchill Downs stakes has been extended from February 15 to March 1, Colonel Matt J. Winn announced today.

The extension was made, Colonel Winn said, because of a delay in preparing the blanks for mailing to horsemen in all parts of the country. The blanks will be sent out tomorrow or Wednesday, where previously they have been mailed in January.

Colonel Winn said the flood would make no difference in plans for Churchill Downs' 1937 meeting.

meeting.

"The water on the track at the Downs was backwater," he said. "It has receded and workmen will start this week to put the grounds in shape. We are going right ahead with our original plans."

MONROE, La., Feb. 1.—(P)—Jack Torrance, 255, former Louisiana State University athlete, knocked out Billy Owens, 205, of Nashville, Tenn., after two minutes of the second round here tonight.

It was Torrance's fourth consecu tive knockout since he turned professional. Owens was his first opponent to last more than one round.

Owens was knocked down once for an eight count and again for a nine count in the first round, and Torrance sent the Tennessean to the mat for two nine counts and a six count in the second round before he polished him off with a left to the chin.

Owens brought blood to Torrance's mouth in the first round when he connected with a hard left.

Dealings were highly selective, with buying centered principally in coppers, oils, carrier equipments and specialities.

Most motors and steels found the interest of the control of the co going difficult, and rails and utilities were in the backward division.

to 6 points. These closed under their best at 240, 162 and 69, respectively.

Bank Order Expected.

Boosting of bank reserve requirements by the Federal Reserve Board apparently had little effect on either shares or bonds. The move had long been expected. The only direct response, it was said, was made by bank stocks, most of which pushed up briskly. Bankers' acceptance rate were raised slightly.

Conspicuous gainers included American Smelting 93 3-8, Anaconda 54 3-4, Standard Oil of New Jersey 70 5-8, Union Oil of California 27 5-8, Barnsdall 34 5-8, American Locomotive 55 1-2, American Car & Foundry 166 1-4, Celtex 42 1-2, Sears-Roebuck 86, Montgomery-Ward 58 1-4, Armour 97-8, Gillette 20 1-2, Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt 18 1-2, Auburn 34 3-4, and Locew's 74 3-8.

Among losers of around a point were United States Steel at 95 5-8, Santa Fe 72 3-4. Union Pacific 128 1-4, Douglass Aircraft 70 7-8, Du Pont 171 1-2 and Superior Steel 38 1-2.

Warren Brothers suffered a relapse when the company filed a petition for reorganization under the federal bank-runtey act. From a hugh of 11 5 8.

Du Pont III 1-2 and superior seeds 38 1-2.

Warren Dips.

Warren Brothers suffered a relapse when the company filed a petition for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy act. From a high of 11 5 8, this issue dropped to 6 3-8 and finished at 6 3-4, off 4 1-8 points net.

United States government securities recovered after an 2arly dip. Corporation bands displayed an indefinite trend. Commodities were uneven. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off 3-4 of a cent a bushel and cornwas down 5-8 to 1 1-8. Cotton yielded 10 to 30 centra bale. 101 - 1 54 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 2 124 + 2 124 + 2 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 124 + 1 125 + 1 126 + 1 127 as prices jiggled unevenly in the bond market. It was the first session following the board's action last Saturday and little significance marketwise either in trend or volume, attached to the move.

raising of excess reserve requirements

Governments showed growing aggressiveness as the session progressed and most active issues closed higher with gain to 7-32ds of a point. A few loans sold off, the widest loss being 6.2.

High-grade corporatee liens idled with swings mixed to slightly higher, while the more speculative domestics worked fractionally lower.

In the railroad list, Chesapeake Corporation 5s lost 11-2 to 1441-2, St. Paul 5s of 1975 dropped 3-8 to 331-8, Erie 5s reacted 3-8 to 851-8, and Northwestern 43-4s dipped 1-4 to 175-8. In the other direction moved Seaboard Air Line 6s "A" up 3-4 to 193-4, "Katy" 5s gained 3-4 and Alleghany 5s and stamped 5s improved 3-4 and 1-2, respectively. The Associated Press averages for 20 rails dipped 1.1 of a cent to 97.7.

Industrials and utilities likewise moved lower with the former off the most. Walworth 4s, Shell Union 31-2s, Bethlehem Steel 41-4s and Warren Brothers 6s and certificates all lost ground. The latter issues were offered in volume and broke 61-2 and 51-4, respectively, following announcement the company had petitioned for reorganization under the national bankruptcy laws. Few Specialty Shares Push Forward; Electric Bond and Share Recedes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 .- (A)-Trad-

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(P)—Trading was active in the curb market today with prices moving narrowly in either direction.

Some specialty shares pushed forward, but there were few wide swings. An exception was Singer Manufacturing, a high-priced share, which jumped 15 to close at 350. Pan American Airways gained a point at 70. Pittsburgh Plate Glass was up 1 1-2 at 144, and E. W. Bliss, at 22 3-4, was 7-8 higher.

Utilities were mixed. Electric Bond & Share lost most of Saturday's gain, dropping 1 3-8 at 24 1-4. On the other hand American Gas & Electric was up 5-8 at 44.

Opening of selling from the government's loan holdings began with little excitement. While the trade was following this event closely and an increase in hedging was expected when the movement attained important proportions, the actual start of the repossession program occasioned little comment today.

Under the present price structure there are many in the trade who believe that not a great amount of loan toton may come into the open market unless a downward revision of prices is posted by the government. In the case of the lower grades held in loan stocks, the asking minimum

In the case of the lower grades held in loan stocks, the asking minimum price by the government is above current market quotations.

The monthly report by the New Orlili leans exchange showed that exports in January were under a year ago.

While Great Britain increased its purchases over January, 1936, sharp declines occurred in the amount of cotton taken by France, Germany and

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM. (Copyright, 1937, by United Press.) NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(UP)—The automobile strike became more threatening to the stock market tonight after General Motors Corporation declared a 25-cent dividend, its smallest quarterly payment in more than a year.
Wall Street immediately interpreted the payment as reflecting the serious shutdown in the company plants. In the first 1936 quarter a 50-cent-a-share dividend was declared. In the 50 year-end payment. $1.50 year-end payment.

It was not an unlooked-for situation. There had been some beliefs the company might refer payment entirely in view of the sbutdown. The seriousness even was reflected in late rading today as General Motors broke rading today as General Alotors proke than a point in fairly active armover.

The continued delay in settling the work irregularly higher. turnover. strike is hindering business generally. Spending power of the thousands out of work as result of the shutdowns is Spending power of the thousands out of work as result of the shutdowns is impaired. Steel orders from automobile companies have been curtailed. Carloadings are slackening.

Meanwhile, the stock market continued nervous. Trading climbed above the 2,000,000-share level but there was no definiteness to the price trend. Copper shares were given a little whirl. Some oils improved. Steel shares were fairly steady but sold off on profittaking near the close. Chrysler finished with a small gain, but General Motors weakened. COTTONSEED OIL ished with a small gain, but General Motors weakened.

There was some satisfaction over action of the federal reserve in lifting reserve requirements of member banks to thwart any possible wild credit inflation. Government bonds hardened after the announcement, and New York bank stocks were higher with fairly active early trading.

Steel provided the chief business news. The schedule for this week, the American Iron & Steel Institute announced, calls for 79.6 per cent of capacity, a gain of 1.7 points over the preceding week. Operations at Youngstown, Ohio, are scheduled to be at the highest level since 1929.

John Charles Thomas Acclaimed In Popular Program at Recital

By RALPH T. JONES. John Charles Thomas, baritone, maybe, for all known to the contrary as this is written, still be giving encores at the Georgia theater. In any event the enthusiasm of the "Bob White" by Jacques Wolfe. In any event the enthusiasm of the audience which almost filled that large house last night was quite sufficient to keep him singing to daylight, provided his voice and good nature lasted that long.

His program was selected with excellent judgment, including numbers cellent judgment, including numbers nature lasted that long.

His program was selected with excellent judgment, including numbers of widest variety which gave every gram with the Salome aria from Massenet's opera "Herodiade." bringing mental descriptions of heroic and heart-stirring in this dramatic avowal of pleading passion.

For the final half of the program he had chosen a group of popular songs in English, including the spiritual "Steal Away" and Wilfred Sander-

ENTER this contest today!

Here's the contest you have been waiting for . . . the contest in which you can win a fortune . . . the contest in which YOU DON'T NEED LUCK. Here's the contest where your skill and your ingenuity can bring you $100,000.00 in CASH. The contest is just starting. Enter right away. 1,000 CASH PRIZES-totaling $200,000.00.

In this contest you solve puzzle pictures in accordance with the rules. Notice the picture at the right. IT'S A SAMPLE PUZZLE, drawn especially to give you the idea of the contest. Read the explanation below the picture, and learn how to proceed in solving the OFFICIAL puzzles that can make you rich.

Neatness does not count.

SOLVE PUZZLE PICTURES

Primarily, your job is to solve puzzle pictures in accordance with the rules. Each puzzle represents a name, and with each puzzle there is an accompanying list of names in which you can find the solution to that puzzle.

The SAMPLE puzzle at the right gives you a general idea of puzzles. Naturally, the sample puzzle like the first official puzzle in the contest is easy and is made purposely so, in order to assist in giving the contestant a better mastery and education in puzzle solution. As the contest proceeds, the puzzles logically become more difficult and represent a delightful challenge to your ingenuity.

COSTS NOTHING-PUZZLES ARE FREE!

You can enter this contest today. You can get the first six of the puzzles anywhere that cigarettes are sold. The puzzles are absolutely FREE. There is no cost, no obligation.

Beginning Monday (Feb. 1.), and continuing each Monday for 15 weeks, Double-Mellow Old Gold will offer six puzzles for solution each week. Get your first 6 puzzles now. Just go to any of the thousands of places where Double-Mellow Old Gold cigarettes are sold and ask for the Official Puzzles. They are YOURS! FREE FOR THE ASKING.

SEND IN YOUR SOLUTIONS EACH WEEK!

The most important thing to remember about this contest is:

You send in your solutions each week, in series of six solutions. In other words, you are offered six puzzles to solve on Monday of each week. You are requested to send in your solutions not later than Midnight of Saturday night of the same week. Thus, the first six puzzles which were issued

Monday, February 1, 1937, should be solved and mailed not later than Midnight of Saturday night of this week, February 6, 1937.

Follow the same procedure each week.

WHY OLD GOLD OFFERS YOU THIS OPPORTUNITY

Through this contest, we hope to gain new smokers for Double-Mellow Old Golds. We believe they'll get a thrill from this delightfully different cigarette. Rich in its prize crop tobaccos! And ALWAYS factory-fresh! Thanks to those two jackets, double Cellophane, on every OLD GOLD package.

But you don't need to make a purchase in order to compete. The rules give you a choice of sending the regular Old Gold yellow package wrappers with each week's puzzle solutions, or reasonably accurate, hand-drawn facsimiles of these wrappers. The choice is up to you!

Or you can get the 3 Old Gold wrappers you require each week by persuading your friends or relatives to try this prize crop tobacco cigarette. Feel free to do this, because we will pay anyone twice what he paid for a package of Double-Mellow-Old Golds if, after smoking ten of the cigarettes, he does not agree that it's the finest "smoke" he ever tasted! Read carefully our Double-Money-Back Guarantee on this page.

WIN $100,000.00 START RIGHT NOW!

Decide right now to start in this contest of skill. Make up your mind to get the first six puzzles. They're free. Ask for them anywhere that cigarettes are sold. Solve the puzzles, and mail your solutions, together with 3 Old Gold yellow wrappers, or facsimiles, by Midnight of Saturday night of this week, Feb. 6, 1937. Get your puzzles and complete rules and entry form today.

YOU CAN WIN $100,000.00 IN A CONTEST OF SKILL

Notice this sample puzzle. It represents a name. Can you find the name in the following list?

William Tell . Alexander the Great James J. Corbett

The correct solution is RUDOLPH VALENTINO. And this is how the puzzle is solved:

Notice the word "RUE." Also, the DOLL. Also the snarling sound of "FFFFF" from the dog. Put them all together and you have RUE-DOLL-FFF, which when pronounced sounds like RUDOLPH.

The man is handing the lady a VALENTINE. She is saying "OH." Add them together and you have Texas Guinan Rúdolph Valentino Edwin Booth

VALENTINE-OH or VALENTINO.

Through the clues in this puzzle you form the name of RUDOLPH VALENTINO, the only perfectly correct solution to the puzzle.

You will not find this contest easy, particularly after the puzzles begin to get harder. But if you really and truly enjoy a contest of SKILL, HERE IT IS. See your dealer today and get the first week's puzzles and rules.
